PROFILab: NEW ANALYSIS SERVICE

Available free of charge for Quebec dairy producers, as of February 3, 2020!

PROFILab : Your cow's milk is trying to tell you something

Although the basic components of milk already tell us a lot about optimizing the ration the cow eats, the fatty acid profile of milk has just added some insight into the ruminal health of the herd. The interpretation of a PROFILab analysis makes it possible, among other things, to adjust the ration or feed management practices in the herd.

This brand new service will be available to Quebec dairy producers as of February 3, 2020. Try it for free until June 2020!

MILK RECORDING

Genetic selection of females: Five benefits to choosing milk recording for your herd.

It has long been recognized that milk recording provides essential data to improve the genetics of a herd. However, major changes in milk production over the past decade, such as the introduction of genomics and automated milking systems, are challenging this fundamental element.
